

Third Party Grading Service / Slabbed Coin Gallery

Collectors and dealers often send their coins to a third party grading service. A grading service is an objective third party that grades a coin according to industry standards. The coin is encapsulated in a plastic air tite holder, which identifies the coin by grade, date, mintmark and identification number. The following photos identify examples of encapsulated coins by third party grading services.

ANACS

NGC

PCGS

ICG