

Third Party Grading Service / Slabbed Paper Money Photo Gallery

Collectors and dealers often send their paper money to a third party grading service. A grading service is an objective third party that grades paper money according to industry standards. The paper money is encapsulated in a plastic air tite holder, which identifies the paper money by grade, denomination, serial number and grading identification number. The following photos identify examples of encapsulated currency by third party grading services.

CGA

PMG

PCGS